Two Glenbard teachers named Golden Apple Award finalists

Glenbard Township High School District 87 is pleased to announce two Glenbard teachers are finalists for the prestigious Golden Apple Award. Glenbard South High School choir director Stephanie Skizas and Glenbard East High School social studies teacher Christopher Pietsch are finalists for the 2007 Golden Apple Awards for Excellence in Teaching.

Pietsch and Skizas are among 32 high school teachers selected from more than 941 teachers nominated in DuPage, Cook, Kane, Lake and Will counties.

In the coming weeks, Golden Apple representatives will visit Glenbard East and Glenbard South to observe Pietsch and Skizas in class.

Several Glenbard District 87 teachers were nominated for the Golden Apple Award. Nominees include: Glenbard East math teacher Lissa Angus, special education teacher Carrie Caputo, science department chairman Jim Carter, math teacher Sheri Hankes, art teacher Sue Ilich, and business teacher Gregg Koeller; Glenbard North arts/business/industrial technology department chairman Linda Resser; Glenbard South social studies teacher Deanna Blyth, English teacher Erin Doyle, math teacher Haresh Harpalani, social studies teacher Bill Hiles, and English teacher Colleen Hiles; Glenbard West science teacher Kim Sammarco and foreign language teacher Alicia Washburn.

The Golden Apple Awards ceremony will be held May 12 in Chicago.
